Company profile

2013

With more than sixty years' business and a constant presence on foreign and national markets, B.A.M.A. has become a high-end reality in artistic majolicas and potteries industry. And it's thanks to its experience and its sensitive attention towards new trends that it has managed during all these years to create a medium-high quality market niche.

Its nature as a family-run business and the attention towards its customers allow B.A.M.A. to satisfy every specific demand, customizing manufacturing based on each type of need.

Design and creation of B.A.M.A. products take place in its plant in Acquapendente under the province of Viterbo, a city that boasts of a centuries-old pottery tradition recognized globally.

The COMPLETELY handmade productive phase, the artistic origins and the look towards future allow B.A.M.A. to stand out for quality, balance and harmony of decorations, with a particular attention to price that makes the business always competitive on every market.

The big availability of space and the strong presence of qualified personnel enable also to extend on a large scale its production.

The production branches that B.A.M.A can embrace are several and span from artistic majolicas for ornamental usage, items for table and kitchen to garden potteries.

A new challenge that B.A.M.A. has managed to overcome is the artistic production of majolica for floor and covering and also in this case it was able to stand out successfully in its related market segment.
